NEW CONSTRUCTION

Service pipes have been laid to eleven houses during the year, using 187 feet of 1¼ inch and 412 feet of 1 inch cement lined pipe.

HYDRANTS

A main line has been extended and a hydrant installed on School Street, opposite the Richards Building. In the near future there should be a larger supply pipe laid on Green Road, and a hydrant installed in that locality. It is possible, however, that other calls will be more urgent in connection with the water system the coming year.

MISCELLANEOUS

No large leaks have occurred in the water mains during the year. The rainfall for 1926 was 30 inches.

Considerable wood has been cut on the shores of Gilman Pond to keep the leaves from blowing into the water. A very careful survey, with a map of the pond and the surrounding land owned by the town, has been made, and permanent bounds installed during the year. This is an expenditure that your Commissioners have felt was justified for the purpose of preserving for future reference the town's interest in this locality.

Respectfully submitted,

P. A. JOHNSON,
A. C. CHADWICK,
F. E. BRONSON,

Water Commissioners

HAROLD P. SHEPARD,
Superintendent

REPORT OF HEALTH OFFICER

To the Selectmen of Newport:

A steady improvement in the health conditions of our town has been noted during the past year.

There were only five cases of diphtheria and two of scarlet fever and these were properly quarantined. There were reported twenty-one cases of measles and thirty-two of whooping cough. The records of whooping cough and measles are not accurate as in a number of cases the parents did not report them or call a doctor but treated the cases themselves. This makes it difficult, in these matters to establish preventive measures. It cannot be brought home too impressively the seriousness of these mis-named minor diseases. In babies, whooping cough is the most dangerous of all they could contract; its spasms wracking the body, leaving effects that are felt through-out life.

There were fourteen cases of venereal diseases reported, under supervision by physicians and proper precautions taken to protect the public. Two of these were of the more dangerous or tertiary stage. Strict supervision was necessary in these instances and they were duly instructed as to the proper care that should be maintained. They were treated as special clinics at outside hospitals and returned practically cleared up.

During the year, twenty-one applications were made to investigate and analyze food products such as butter, cream, meat, fish and canned goods. These suspected goods were sent to the state laboratory for examination. The chemist's reports were taken up with the parties concerned and correction required.

Complaints of nuisances resulted in eighty-seven calls being made which resulted in cleaning up rubbish heaps, ill-smelling garbage piles and unsightly dumps, also a number of neglected dead animals were disposed of.

This year, in supervising the town dump, at the north end, we have materially reduced the cost of maintenance, over former years. A number of complaints have been made that the odor from the burning refuse, has become a nuisance to the near-by residents, also the wind carrying papers and lighter material across the fields and state road, results in an unsightly entrance to our town.

It might be well to consider a new location which would be unseen from the main highway.

All milk dealers are licensed and those buying and selling milk pay a fee of two dollars annually. The barns and premises are inspected periodically. Samples of milk are taken, at different times and sent to the state chemist for analysis. All of the samples during the past year were above the standard as required by law, as to butter fat. Some, however, showed lack of cleanliness and high bacteria count, indicative of not taking the proper precautions in cooling and caring for the milk in barn and milk room. Most of these deficiencies have been corrected.

The public should feel free to call upon this agency, at any time, to investigate suspected milk.

Samples of the town drinking water were examined quarterly and all found to be of good quality.

The North State Road which has become thickly settled, is in great need of a sewer. The land is flat and swampy. The residents have petitioned the sewer commissioners to lay out a sewer in this district. We strongly recommend that this improvement be made.

Federal authorities have shown that the average span of life, during the past twenty-five years has been increased from fifteen to twenty years. This has been due, in a measure, here as elsewhere throughout the country, to the several health agencies established by the federal and state authorities to co-operate with the local health officers, to the better and more intelligent application, by us, of the best health principles.

One agency, the local public health nurse, is faithful and efficient, ready at all times to respond to calls from those needing her services.

We arranged for three tubercular clinics, at which fifty-seven suspects were examined. When necessary these cases were followed up with the proper advice and attention.

The county nurse for the state division of maternity and child hygiene has made 156 visits to children under two years of age and 202 visits to children of pre-school age. There was held a child health conference, in April, in Citizens Hall, at which sixty-five school children were examined by the physician in charge. These clinics have been organized for the benefit of Newport young children and it is hoped that every citizen will see that the work is more largely developed. Prevention of disease, safeguarding and building up health is the watch word of the day. The pre-school child in the best communities is coming to have a hygiene to himself, just as the school child has been provided with physical examinations, correction of defects, training in proper habits of eating and sleeping and later with education in the reasons for these things.

There is now being made a health survey of Newport and surrounding territory. The object is to enroll all children between the age of six months and six years and immunize them from diphtheria. This is done, with the parents' consent, at a clinic where toxin anti-toxin is administered. This treatment renders them practically immune for life. At this tender age, children are more susceptible to disease and its effects often remain permanent in their lives. This clinic will be a most advanced step in preventive medicine.

Experts in the study of contagious diseases say that they not only are restricted in number of cases on account of precautions of health agencies but the diseases themselves are milder in form.

This is due to the greater resistance in the human body, which from right living and clean surroundings, has been fortified to fight the disease germs.

It is encouraging to think that in time these diseases may evolve themselves out of existence.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN R. KELLY, Health Officer.

-------	------------

Also, orders have been drawn for matured Interest Coupons of a total amount of Nine Thousand Five Hundred Ninety and twenty-five hundredths, ($9,590.25) Dollars, and we further certify that the above mentioned Bonds and Coupons, amounting in all to Thirteen Thousand Ninety and Twenty-five Hundredths, ($13,090.25), Dollars, were totally destroyed by burning, in the presence of Ernest A. Robinson, Sidney G. Whitmore, Fred E. Newcomb, Selectmen, George E. Lewis, Town Treasurer, and in the presence of the undersigned.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board of Newport:

I herewith submit my third annual report. A careful and thoughtful survey of the school situation in Newport in light of the past three years leads one to believe that our schools have improved to a marked degree in material equipment, better trained teachers and as a consequence better educational product. These results are not obtained by chance but by a well defined plan and willing co-operation of all those who hold the interest of our schools as of very great moment in our town.

The equipment of a school system is a large factor of the success of the structure. Well trained teachers are essential to a good product. Children coming largely from good homes, as in Newport, are the barometer of our educational effort. Too often schools are judged upon the two per cent of failures and not on the ninety-eight per cent of successful graduates. I have lately heard a course condemned because one pupil did not make a success of the work. Investigation revealed the fact that the particular pupil was the outstanding misfit of the class.

There is plenty of evidence to show that in America we have a common faith and belief in the efficacy of a universal education. Nearly twenty-eight million pupils are enrolled in schools of all kinds in the United States. The total expenditure for these schools is nearly two and one half billion. There are more than 260,000 elementary and high school buildings in this country. There are 89 teachers' colleges, 270 state, city and private normal schools, 144 colleges and universities and 769 under private control. Nowhere in the world can education be shown to be developed to so high a degree of effective application. In light of these facts it becomes imperative to keep abreast the time, as we are doing in Newport, that our children may not feel the pinch of educational handicap when compelled to compete with those coming from some of the best school systems of the country. In the past ten years no pupil who has received a certificate of entrance to any college requiring a certificate for entrance has failed. This is a most remarkable record. I know of no school system that can boast of a better one. Quite a bit is said at times about the mounting cost of education. One of the foremost authorities on educational finance in this country writes as follows:

THE TREND IN SCHOOL COSTS

"The embarrassing difficulty which faces school administrators today is the fact that it takes money to provide a system of public education," "What is more it seems to require a greater amount of money to provide modern education than it took to carry on the old traditional program. A greater variety of courses are now offered; in most school systems there will have to be a greater proportion of small classes; and in all cases teachers should be better trained than they had to be in order to succeed reasonably at the old style job of teaching."

"In 1890 the total expenditure on public education in the United States was $140,000,000. In 1900, this amount had been increased by 50 per cent to $215,000,000. During the next ten years the expenditure of 1900 was almost exactly doubled, more than $426,000,000 having been expended that year on public education in the United States. In the decade from 1910 to 1920 our national progress in disposing of school dollars was most phenomenal. For every $100 we were spending in 1910 we were spending $245 in 1920, and our total expenditure on public education was increased to $1,045,000,000. It is facts like these, uninterpreted and considered at their face value, which have resulted in all the heated discussion concerning "the mounting cost of education."

"A scientific inquiry, however, does not demonstrate that extravagance has been engaged in, or that retrenchment has become a necessity. The educational load is greater now than ever, the purchasing power of the dollar is less.

"The increase in the number of days of schooling itself would have required $131 in 1920 for every $100 in 1910. Add to this the effect of the decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar and these two factors together would have made it necessary to spend $288 for every $100 expended in 1910. Add to these two the effect of the increase in the proportion of high school students and we find that it should have required exactly $300 in 1920 to have carried on exactly the same quality of educational program as was offered in 1910. Instead of this expected $300 we were spending only $245 on public education in the United States in 1920 with 18 per cent less of financial effort than we were putting forth 10 years earlier.

"These facts make it clear that one of two things had to be true in 1920. Either we were providing a far inferior educational program and that is contrary to fact—or we were getting a lot more for our money than we were 10 years before. This second alternative is the exact truth of the matter and it is the duty of every school and of every friend of public education in the United States to give wide and effective publicity to this fact."

I have compiled the following figures to show what the comparative cost of education is in different well known school systems in New Hampshire. The following facts are taken from figures received from the State Board of Education since the beginning of 1927.

NEWPORT

The cost of education in the several towns of New Hampshire are shown in a report from the State Board of Education. The lowest expense listed under Total Current Expenses amounts to $1.29 on each $1000 of valuation. The highest in the list is $28.68.

The towns in this school union rank as follows:

Sunapee	$ 9 37
Newport	10 18
Goshen	15 99
Unity	20 92

The average cost per pupil for High Schools in the state was $101.98. For comparative cost the following are selected:

Hanover	$100 39 per pupil
Laconia	118 79 per pupil
Lebanon	91 53 per pupil
Milford	92 80 per pupil
Newport	90 60 per pupil
Sunapee	186 54 per pupil
Walpole	93 44 per pupil
Wilton	110 98 per pupil

The same list of towns shows the following cost per pupil for Elementary Schools:

Hanover	$93 04
Laconia	63 10
Lebanon	79 02
Milford	57 52
Newport	56 68
Sunapee	81 16
Walpole	77 71
Wilton	65 87
Goshen	96 85
Unity	90 90

Average cost for state $67 50

SCHOOL EQUIPMENT

The past year has been no exception to the rule in Newport with regard to gifts from its citizens to its schools. Mr. George A. Fairbanks has made two gifts. In one he has given some valuable pictures to the Towle High School; in the other he has helped to clear up a debt contracted by the Teachers Club three years ago in purchasing a stereoptican lantern, Geography and History slides for the Richards School. Most of this debt ($545) has been paid for from funds earned by the Teachers Club. As soon as this debt is entirely cleared up it is planned to purchase a moving picture and slide machine for the Towle School, the whole outfit to cost about $400.

I understand a movement has been started and authorized by the Newport Alumni Association to place an enlargement of Mr. Frank O. Chellis' picture in the hallway at the Towle School similar to the one of Mr. Towle which is already there. It is hoped that this will be provided by graduation time.

Probably the most urgent need of the schools now is to provide an adequate heating system. The work of education is frequently interrupted at the Richards School during cold weather because the antiquated and worn-out heating apparatus cannot heat the building. Many mornings this year it has been necessary to send the children home because the temperature of the rooms could not be raised above 55 degrees until late in the day.

When new heating facilities are provided the plant should be located outside the building. A black smudge permeates the whole building all the time and it is impossible to prevent it with the present arrangement. This is caused either by the "flare back" when coaling the fires or the dust from the coal when delivered to the building. The present boiler room and coal pocket space could be used to good advantage if released for storage and basement room space.

THE RURAL SCHOOLS

A short time ago an unsigned article appeared in the Argus-Champion which said it "seemed foolish to take rural school pupils to the center of the town, thus causing congestion, when the rural schools are all equipped and ready for use." There has and always will be, probably, a desire on the part of some people to have education in their own dooryard whatever its quality, so long as it is there. When it is there, continuous complaint is made either that the teacher is too self sufficient (that is, if she is efficient) or that the teacher is no good and the children are not getting anything out of their school.

What are the facts in the present situation? We enroll at the present time as first grade children in the village 94 pupils, none of whom come from out of the village. It is necessary to divide these children into groups according to their abilities in doing the work. This naturally makes four sections or groups, called, A, B, C, and D groups. If these children are left divided between two rooms it leaves each teacher with more than 45 pupils. If we are to get satisfactory results we must reduce each of these rooms to enrollments of about 35 pupils each and provide a room somewhere else with about 25 pupils. This has been done and we have employed another teacher. I have turned over the room used for my office to provide the extra room, and although it is quite small for the group yet it is acceptable for the present.

We have in the second grade about eight pupils who would probably profit better by the work if they were in the advanced division of the first grade. If a suitable room for the extra group were available this is what would be done. As it is they will probably repeat the second grade next year with preparation which will not be as good as though they were preparing for the work in the first grade.

Let us see how this condition is hampered for the school officials, School Board and myself, by pupils who come from the rural districts. No outside pupils (except for now and then one whose presence does not create any problem) come to the village until we arrive at the fifth grade. We have not complained that we are over-crowded above the first grade. I can hardly see where there is any logic or reason in saying that the rural schools should be developed from enrollment which is in our first grade. We have no grade in the village which could be consolidated into one room as no one grade contains less than 64 pupils at the present time.

If the patrons in the rural districts have fear that I may attempt to bring all the rural school pupils to the village I will allay their fear by saying that evidence shows I have done more to put the rural school houses into workable and livable condition than has been done since they were built.

There is, however, no sense in running a rural school merely for the sake of saying we have a rural school, whatever the results may be. I contend that one teacher can do better work with four grades than with eight. If anyone wishes to challenge this statement let them multiply their own work by two and see if they can do it just as well.

There is a place where the town could probably save $500 per year if they wished to do so. I will merely mention the prospect and say it will work out well although I am not recommending it. I believe that good and satisfactory results can be obtained either way. There is an improved road by the Reed School to the Unity line. I have had a bid to do the transportation over that route for $600 per year. The conveyance would be an improved and heated Wayne School Bus. This school is costing the town about $1100 at present. I know the School Board is in favor of retaining all its Rural Schools and making them as efficient as possible. That is why we are transporting the upper grade pupils from the rural districts to the village—in order to give the pupils of the lower grades in these schools the attention they deserve.

This is as impartially and straight forward as I am able to present this rural school problem at this time.

I believe our schools will not be handled in any unreasonable or high handed way with the present personnel in charge. I believe we are getting results with the best school systems of the country. This is all made possible by the business-like way that the large majority of citizens stand behind and demand the best for their student-citizens. It is a pleasure to work for such a constituency.

Respectfully submitted
